

Options Are the Better Choice When...

You want to maximize wealth. Options are leveraged and have higher growth potential than investing the cash.

You think P&G stock will appreciate by more than 2.2% annually over the next 10 years. While past performance is no guarantee, the stock has exceeded this breakeven point in 93% of the 470 historical rolling 10-year monthly periods since 1982.

You already have adequate diversification outside of P&G stock and sufficient cash or vested option grants to meet any liquidity needs.

Cash Is the Better Choice When...

You need to diversify. Options increase your P&G concentration, while cash can be immediately invested in a diversified portfolio.

You have near-term cashflow needs. Cash is also attractive if you have a liquidity need and no other available sources.

You are risk-averse. If P&G stock fails to appreciate over the 10-year period, the options will expire worthless.

You want to hedge against option risk. Electing a mix of options and cash serves as a hedge—options provide upside potential, while invested cash provides downside protection.

Value After 10 Years
(after tax)

THE MAGIC NUMBER:

2.2%

Assumptions:

- $5,000 cash equivalent
- Cost of stock option = $19.74
- Grant Price = $139.16
- 2.35% compound dividend growth rate
- 40% total tax rate

Cost of Stock Option:

Valuation can change between now and when grants are received in October as cost of stock option depends on P&G volatility and dividend yield, along with interest rates.

The decision that is best for you depends on the considerations noted above and the specifics of your own financial situation including:

- Financial exposure to P&G including both P&G stock and compensation
- Level of financial security
- Outlook for P&G stock
- Cashflow needs
