This includes assets in qualified retirement plans that are self-directed by participants, as well as private equity investments held by select clients. As of December 31, 2025, the allocation between discretionary and non-discretionary AUM was as follows:

Discretionary	$6,319,120,995
Non-discretionary	$73,609,959

Item 5 — Fees and Compensation

Fee Description

As a fee-only firm, fees directly from clients are the sole source of Truepoint's compensation. The fee is calculated as a percentage of assets according to the schedule below:

Portfolio Value	Annual Advisory Fee	Quarterly Advisory Fee
First $3,000,000	1.00%	0.25%
Next $2,000,000	0.75%	0.1875%
Next $5,000,000	0.60%	0.15%
Above $10,000,000	0.45%	0.1125%

For True Wealth Management clients, asset totals below the suggested minimum of $3,000,000 are subject to a minimum quarterly fee of $7,500 which may result in an annual rate in excess of 1.00%.

For Foundational Wealth Management clients, asset totals below the suggested minimum of $1,000,000 are subject to a minimum quarterly fee of $2,500 which may result in an annual rate in excess of 1.00%.

Truepoint, in its sole discretion, may reduce its minimum fee and/or charge a reduced advisory fee based upon specific circumstances. The agreement for services may be terminated at any time upon written notice of either Truepoint or the client.

Fee Invoice

For all types of ongoing advisory services, the client will be charged at the end of each calendar quarter for advisory services rendered. The fee is calculated on a percentage basis by multiplying one-fourth of the applicable annual rate against the asset value under management on the last day of the quarter. Truepoint will deduct the quarterly fee from the client's investment portfolio, however, clients may elect to remit payment via check. In either instance, the client has access to an invoice with the fee calculation.

Other Portfolio Expenses

Transaction Costs

Truepoint recommends a qualified third-party custodian to hold assets for clients. Clients are charged for all for custodial expenses (brokerage commissions or transaction fees) incurred on their behalf. These fees are levied by the custodian and charged directly to the client's account. Truepoint does not receive any income from custodial fees. Fees charged for buying and selling mutual funds and exchange-traded funds (ETF) generally range between no cost and $25 per trade, but may be higher.

Expense Ratios

All mutual funds and ETFs include a management fee paid to the investment manager of the fund. These fees and expenses are described in each fund's prospectus and generally include a management fee, other fund expenses and a possible distribution fee. Truepoint exclusively recommends low-cost, no-load funds. The current average-weighted expense ratio for a typical Truepoint portfolio approximates 0.14%.

External Managers

Truepoint may further recommend to clients that all or a portion of their investment portfolio be managed on a discretionary basis by one or more unaffiliated money managers or investment platforms ("External Managers"). The client may be required to enter into a separate agreement with the External Manager(s), which will set forth the terms and conditions of the client's engagement of the External Manager and the investment management fees charged by the designated External Managers. The fees charged by the External Manager are in addition to the annual advisory fee charged by Truepoint.

Additional Administrative Services

Estate Administration – services may include, but not limited to, consultation regarding the distribution of assets and probate court process, review of income or estate tax returns, and participation in meetings with attorneys and/or beneficiaries. A one-time fee of $2,500 shall be charged to cover these services. For more complex cases, additional fees may apply. In these cases, a separate Agreement will be executed that details the fee.

Bill Payment and Reporting – the fee for adding bill supervision and expense management reporting will vary depending on the complexity of the services required. A separate Agreement specific to this service will be executed that details the corresponding fee.

Tax Services – clients receiving tax preparation services execute a separate Agreement outside of the standard Advisory Agreement. If not already included as part of the client's standard Advisory Agreement, additional fees for tax preparation services are addressed in the separate Agreement.

Item 6 — Performance-Based Fees and Side-By-Side Management

To avoid potential conflicts of interest, Truepoint does not charge a performance-based fee, which is a calculation of the fee based upon the capital gains or the capital appreciation of any of the client's funds.

Item 7 — Types of Clients

Description

Truepoint generally serves individuals (mass affluent to high-net worth), families, trusts and institutional relationships (corporations, foundations and qualified plans).

Account Minimums

Truepoint provides suggested account minimums for each service level, however, we allow consumers to determine whether our services are appropriate for their needs. Therefore, the firm does not impose a minimum investment net worth requirement for individuals seeking services. However, portfolios below certain values are subject to a minimum fee. The minimum fee may result in an annual rate in excess of the stated rate.

Item 8 — Methods of Analysis, Investment Strategies and Risk of Loss

Our Investment Philosophy

Conventional investment wisdom suggests that smart people, working diligently and informing themselves with the latest information, can pick undervalued stocks and time the market. Further, many believe that this kind of “active” investing leads to superior returns.

Decades of historical data, a huge body of academic research and ongoing market realities make clear that:

- Market timing and stock picking do not work—Wall Street and the financial media perpetuate the myth that they work because they stand to profit from people who believe it.
- The high cost of active investing means about 70% of managers are destined to under perform the overall market in any given year.
- Most managers achieving market outperformance do so simply by chance.

We believe there is opportunity for results in establishing and adhering to an appropriate long-term investment strategy built on goal-focused, long-term financial planning, low-cost funds and disciplined rebalancing.

Our intellectually honest and transparent approach recognizes that the hardest work in investing is often emotional and that investor behavior can be the primary determinant of long-term returns.

Our Process, Types of Investments and Risk of Loss

Truepoint's investment process is rigorously focused on the long term and leverages what works. We build from a sound empirical foundation of decades of market performance data and the overwhelming evidence provided by many academic studies. Our approach is designed to build confidence, reduce complexity and mitigate against both market and emotional risks.

How do we do it? By following a set of essential steps.

- Start with Goals: Identify objectives; define time horizon; cash flow needs and risk preferences; assess financial resources required; evaluate savings ability and strategies.
- Design Intelligent Portfolio: Diversify by asset class to efficiently balance market; inflation and longevity risks in light of time horizon and cash flow needs; strategically allocate assets and classes so that overall portfolio volatility is lower than the sum of individual components.
- Make Smart Selections: Identify funds for each asset class; choose index funds based on design and total cost.
- Rebalance with Discipline: Seize opportunity in resetting to allocation targets; systematize “sell high, buy low” and maintain the intended portfolio risk levels.

In addition to diversifying clients' accounts with mutual funds and ETFs, on a limited basis, Truepoint provides advice on private equity investments, hedge funds and institutional grade investments for qualified investors. Alternative investments carry a higher degree of risk since they are not publicly-traded and lack liquidity.

In determining the client's long-term investment objectives, Truepoint helps clients understand the inherent risks involved in investing in the capital markets. As with all investment securities, including mutual funds and ETFs, there is a risk of loss of both income and principal. Clients should not assume that future performance of any specific investment or investment strategy, including those recommended by Truepoint, will be profitable or achieve any specific performance level.

Additional risks involved in the securities recommended by Truepoint include, among others:

- Stock market risk, which is the chance that stock prices overall will decline. The market value of equity securities will generally fluctuate with market conditions. Stock markets tend to move in cycles, with periods of rising prices and periods of falling prices. Prices of equity securities tend to fluctuate over the short term as a result of factors affecting the individual companies, industries or the securities market as a whole. Equity securities generally have greater price volatility than fixed income securities.
- Sector risk, which is the chance that significant problems will affect a particular sector, or that returns from that sector will trail returns from the overall stock market. Daily fluctuations in specific market sectors are often more extreme than fluctuations in the overall market.
- Issuer risk, which is the risk that the value of a security will decline for reasons directly related to the issuer, such as management performance, financial leverage, and reduced demand for the issuer's goods or services.
- Non-diversification risk, which is the risk of focusing investments in a small number of issuers, industries or foreign currencies, including being more susceptible to risks associated with a single economic, political or regulatory occurrence than a more diversified portfolio might be.

- Value investing risk, which is the risk that value stocks not increase in price, not issue the anticipated stock dividends, or decline in price, either because the market fails to recognize the stock's intrinsic value, or because the expected value was misgauged. If the market does not recognize that the securities are undervalued, the prices of those securities might not appreciate as anticipated. They also may decline in price even though in theory they are already undervalued. Value stocks are typically less volatile than growth stocks, but may lag behind growth stocks in an up market.
- Smaller company risk, which is the risk that the value of securities issued by a smaller company will go up or down, sometimes rapidly and unpredictably as compared to more widely held securities. Investments in smaller companies are subject to greater levels of credit, market and issuer risk.
- Foreign (non-U.S.) investment risk, which is the risk that investing in foreign securities result in the portfolio experiencing more rapid and extreme changes in value than a portfolio that invests exclusively in securities of U.S. companies. Risks associated with investing in foreign securities include fluctuations in the exchange rates of foreign currencies that may affect the U.S. dollar value of a security, the possibility of substantial price volatility as a result of political and economic instability in the foreign country, less public information about issuers of securities, different securities regulation, different accounting, auditing and financial reporting standards and less liquidity than in the U.S. markets.
- Interest rate risk, which is the chance that prices of fixed income securities decline because of rising interest rates. Similarly, the income from fixed income securities may decline because of falling interest rates.
- Credit risk, which is the chance that an issuer of a fixed income security will fail to pay interest and principal in a timely manner, or that negative perceptions of the issuer's ability to make such payments will cause the price of that fixed income security to decline.
- Exchange Traded Fund (ETF) risk, which is the risk of an investment in an ETF, including the possible loss of principal. ETFs typically trade on a securities exchange and the prices of their shares fluctuate throughout the day based on supply and demand, which may not correlate to their net asset values. Although ETF shares will be listed on an exchange, there can be no guarantee that an active trading market will develop or continue. Owning an ETF generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying securities it is designed to track. ETFs are also subject to secondary market trading risks. In addition, an ETF may not replicate exactly the performance of the index it seeks to track for a number of reasons, including transaction costs incurred by the ETF, the temporary unavailability of certain securities in the secondary market, or discrepancies between the ETF and the index with respect to weighting of securities or number of securities held.
- Management risk, which is the risk that the investment techniques and risk analyses applied by Truepoint may not produce the desired results and that legislative, regulatory, or tax developments, affect the investment techniques available to Truepoint. There is no guarantee that a client's investment objectives will be achieved.
- Real Estate risk, which is the risk that an investor's investments in Real Estate Investment Trusts ("REITs") or real estate-linked derivative instruments will subject the investor to risks similar to those associated with direct ownership of real estate, including losses from casualty or condemnation, and changes in local and general economic conditions, supply and demand, interest rates, zoning laws, regulatory limitations on rents, property taxes and operating expenses. An investment in REITs or real estate-linked derivative instruments subject the investor to management and tax risks.
- Investment Companies ("Mutual Funds") risk, when an investor invests in mutual funds, the investor will bear additional expenses based on his/her pro rata share of the mutual fund's operating expenses, including the management fees. The risk of owning a mutual fund generally reflects the risks of owning the underlying investments the mutual fund holds.
- Cybersecurity risk, which is the risk related to unauthorized access to the systems and networks of Truepoint and its service providers. The computer systems, networks and devices used by Truepoint and service providers to us and our clients to carry out routine business operations employ a variety of protections designed to prevent damage or interruption from computer viruses, network failures, computer and telecommunication failures, infiltration by unauthorized persons and security breaches. Despite the various protections utilized, systems, networks or devices potentially can be breached. A client could be negatively impacted as a result of a cybersecurity breach. Cybersecurity breaches can include unauthorized access to systems, networks or devices; infection from computer viruses or other malicious software code; and attacks that shut down, disable, slow or otherwise disrupt operations, business processes or website access or functionality. Cybersecurity breaches cause disruptions and impact business operations, potentially resulting in financial losses to a client; impediments to trading; the inability by us and other service providers to transact business; violations of applicable privacy and other laws; regulatory fines, penalties, reputational damage, reimbursement or other compensation costs, or other compliance costs; as well as the inadvertent release of confidential information. Similar adverse consequences could result from cybersecurity breaches affecting issues of securities in which a client invests; governmental and other regulatory authorities; exchange and other financial market operators, banks, brokers, dealers and other financial institutions; and other parties. In addition, substantial costs may be incurred by those entities in order to prevent any cybersecurity breaches in the future.

- Alternative Investments / Private Funds risk, investing in alternative investments is speculative, not suitable for all clients, and intended for experienced and sophisticated investors who are willing to bear the high economic risks of the investment, which can include:
 - loss of all or a substantial portion of the investment due to leveraging, short-selling or other speculative investment practices;
 - lack of liquidity in that there may be no secondary market for the investment and none expected to develop;
 - volatility of returns;
 - restrictions on transferring interests in the investment;
 - potential lack of diversification and resulting higher risk due to concentration of trading authority when a single adviser is utilized;
 - absence of information regarding valuations and pricing;
 - delays in tax reporting;
 - less regulation and higher fees than mutual funds;
 - risks associated with the operations, personnel, and processes of the manager of the funds investing in alternative investments.
- Closed-End Funds risk, Closed-end funds typically use a high degree of leverage. They may be diversified or non-diversified. Risks associated with closed-end fund investments include liquidity risk, credit risk, volatility and the risk of magnified losses resulting from the use of leverage. Additionally, closed-end funds may trade below their net asset value

Clients are advised that they should only commit assets for management that can be invested for the long term, that volatility from investing can occur, and that all investing is subject to risk. Truepoint does not guarantee the future performance of a client's portfolio, as investing in securities involves the risk of loss that clients should be prepared to bear.

Past performance of a security or a fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance or risk of loss.

Item 12 — Brokerage Practices

The Custodians and Brokers We Use

Truepoint Wealth Counsel (“we/our”) does not maintain custody of your assets that we manage (although we may be deemed to have custody of your assets if you give us authority to withdraw assets from your account (see Item 15 – Custody, below). Your assets must be maintained in an account at a “qualified custodian,” generally a broker-dealer or bank. We may recommend that our clients use Charles Schwab & Co., Inc. (“Schwab”) or Fidelity Institutional Wealth Services (“Fidelity”), FINRA-registered broker-dealers, members SIPC, as the qualified custodians. We are independently owned and operated and not affiliated with any broker-dealer.

Fidelity and Schwab charge commission rates that are generally considered discounted from customary retail commission rates. In seeking best execution, the determinative factor is not solely the lowest possible cost, but whether the transaction represents the best overall qualitative execution, taking into consideration the full range of a broker-dealer/custodian’s services, including execution capability, commission rates and responsiveness. Accordingly, although Truepoint will seek competitive rates, it may not necessarily obtain the lowest possible commission rates for client account transactions.

Our custodians will hold your assets in a brokerage account and buy and sell securities when we instruct them to. While we may recommend that you use a specific custodian, you will decide whether to do so and open your account with them by entering into an account agreement directly with them. We do not open the account for you.

How We Select Brokers/Custodians

We seek to recommend a custodian/broker who will hold your assets and execute transactions on terms that are overall most advantageous when compared with other available providers and their services. We consider a wide range of factors, including these:

- Combination of transaction execution services along with asset custody services (generally without a separate fee for custody);
- Capability to execute, clear, and settle trades (buy and sell securities for your account)
- Capabilities to facilitate transfers and payments to and from accounts (wire transfers, check requests, bill payment, etc.)
- Breadth of investment products made available (stocks, bonds, mutual funds, exchange-traded funds (ETFs), etc.)
- Availability of investment research and tools that assist us in making investment decisions
- Quality of services
- Competitiveness of the price of those services (commission rates, margin interest rates, other fees, etc.) and willingness to negotiate them
- Reputation, financial strength, and stability of the provider
- Their prior service to us and our other clients
- Availability of other products and services that benefit us, as discussed below (see “Products and Services Available to Us from Custodians”)

Products and Services Available to Us from Custodians

Fidelity provides Truepoint with Fidelity’s “platform services”. The platform services include, among others, brokerage, custodial, administrative support, record keeping and related services that are intended to support us in conducting business and in serving the best interests of our clients. In addition, as part of our arrangement with Fidelity, we also receive discounts on certain third-party software applications that are used by us to manage accounts for which we have investment discretion. As a result, Truepoint may have an incentive to continue to use or expand the use of Fidelity’s services.

Schwab provides our clients and us with access to its institutional brokerage—trading, custody, reporting, and related services—many of which are not typically available to Schwab retail customers. Schwab also makes available various support services. Some of those services help us manage or administer our clients’ accounts, while others help us manage and grow our business. In addition, Schwab makes available investment research, both the custodians’ own and that of third parties. We may use this research to service all or some substantial number of our clients’ accounts, including accounts not maintained at the custodian providing the investment research.

Services that Generally Benefit Only Us

Our custodians also offer other services intended to help us manage and further develop our business enterprise.

These services include:

- educational conferences and events;
- technology, compliance, legal, and business consulting;
- publications and conferences on practice management and business succession; and
- access to employee benefits providers, human capital consultants, and insurance providers.

Our custodians may provide some of these services themselves. In other cases, they will arrange for third-party vendors to provide the services to us. Our custodians may also discount or waive their fees for some of these services or pay all or a part of a third party's fees. Our custodians may also provide us with other benefits such as occasional business entertainment of our personnel.

Soft Dollars

Truepoint and its employees do not receive any financial compensation from brokerage referrals, nor does it receive any targeted or customized research, etc. The custodians may provide Truepoint with general research reports and newsletters that all such advisors receive. Any research services provided by the custodians may be of benefit to all of our clients, not only clients having accounts at a specific custodian. Truepoint has not entered into any formal "soft dollar" arrangements with any custodian.

Order Aggregation

Trades in the same security will be bunched in a single order (a "block") at each custodian in an effort to obtain best execution at the best security price available. When employing a block trade:

- We will attempt to fill client orders by day end;
- If the block order is not filled by day-end, shares will be allocated to underlying accounts on a pro rata basis, adjusted as necessary to keep client transaction costs to a minimum and in accordance with specific account guidelines;
- If a block order is filled (full or partial fill at several prices through multiple trades, an average price and commission will be used for all trades executed;
- All accounts receiving securities from the block trade will receive the average price; and
- Only trades executed within the block on the single day may be combined for purposes of calculating the average price.

Item 13 — Review of Accounts

Description

Members of Truepoint's investment team monitor accounts on a continual basis. With the use of software, portfolios are reviewed daily and rebalanced, as necessary, to the client's targeted allocations as noted in the client's Investment Policy Statement. Additionally, portfolios are reviewed as needed by the Wealth Advisor and in connection with the annual meeting process.

Regular Reports

As mentioned previously, Truepoint recommends independent, qualified custodians to hold client assets. Custodians directly provide clients with accounts statements at least quarterly.

Truepoint provides clients with access to performance reporting detailing positions on an account level, as well as the asset allocation of the overall portfolio. Clients are encouraged to compare the information presented by Truepoint with the statements that are received from the custodian.

Item 14 — Client Referrals and Other Compensation

Incoming Referrals

We are pleased that the majority of our new clients are generated by existing client referrals. We do not directly compensate clients for such referrals.

Referrals Out

We refer business to estate planning attorneys, accountants and insurance brokers. Certain individuals to whom we refer business engage Truepoint for retainer services at standard pricing. We may receive client referrals from individuals or firms to whom we refer business. Truepoint does not directly compensate for the referrals which it receives.

Other Compensation

We receive economic benefits from Schwab and Fidelity in the form of the support products and services it makes available to us and other independent investment advisors that have their clients maintain accounts at these custodians. These products and services, how they benefit us, and the related conflicts of interest are described above (see Item 12 – Brokerage Practices). The availability of Fidelity's or Schwab's products and services to us is not based on our giving particular investment advice, such as buying particular securities for our clients.

Retirement Plan Accounts

When Truepoint provides investment advice to you regarding your retirement plan account or individual retirement account, Truepoint is a fiduciary within the meaning of Title I of the Employee Retirement Income Security Act and/or the Internal Revenue Code, as applicable, which are laws governing retirement accounts. The way Truepoint makes money creates some conflicts with your interests, so Truepoint operates under a special rule that requires Truepoint to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours.

Item 15 — Custody

All client assets are held at independent, qualified custodians. For certain clients, Truepoint is deemed to have custody since it has the ability to withdraw funds and securities from the client's account and/or directly debit fees. In addition, if Truepoint serves as trustee or executor for a client, Truepoint is deemed to have custody.

As required, Truepoint has engaged a Certified Public Accountant to conduct surprise examinations of its process annually. These relationships are limited to a small number of clients.

Clients will receive monthly or quarterly account statements directly from the custodian where these assets are held. Truepoint urges clients to carefully review these statements and compare those statements with account information they receive from Truepoint.

Item 16 — Investment Discretion

Clients of Truepoint hire us to provide discretionary investment advisory services, in which case, we place trades in a client account without contacting the client prior to each trade to obtain the client's permission. Clients give us discretionary authority when they sign an investment advisory agreement with our firm. This requires a client to pre-authorize Truepoint to execute transactions, which will return the portfolio to its targeted allocation. Other trading activity may include tax loss harvesting or portfolio restructuring.

Item 17 — Voting Client Securities

Proxy Voting Policy

Truepoint does not accept the authority to and does not vote proxies on behalf of clients. Clients retain the responsibility for receiving and voting proxies for all and any securities maintained in client portfolios.

Item 18 — Financial Information

Truepoint is not required to disclose any financial information pursuant to this item due to the following:

- a) Truepoint does not require or solicit the prepayment of more than $1,200 in fees six months or more in advance of rendering services;
- b) Truepoint is unaware of any financial condition that is reasonably likely to impair its ability to meet its contractual commitments relating to its discretionary authority over certain client accounts; and
- c) Truepoint has never been the subject of a bankruptcy petition.
